Office of the President
White House, Wash, D.C.
Dear Mr. President,

Executive Registry

I have been a staunch supporter of the Republican Party and your administration. I have contributed financially and morally to the best of my ability. As tokens of the support, your office has sent me many pictures of you, Mr. Reagan and other pictures and certificates of appreciation, all prominently displayed in my office. It is now my turn to ask a favor of your administration.

My son, [redacted] has been interviewing for a position with the C.I.A. in the office of scientific research. He is a college graduate, excellent grade, an ex Marine, very patriotic and a good citizen. He does not smoke or indulge in drugs of any form. This interviewing period has extended over the past 9 months and he was even made an offer and entry level of 8-1^(verbal). He had his second interview with the CIA on July 2 & 3 that covered final interview and lie detector test. He was today notified that he was not accepted for the employment. The cause being, as I understand it, an accident at college prior to graduation. He got intoxicated and had a car accident. He ran into a building. No charges were filed by the court, his license was not suspended or anything. He does not drink to excess. I believe anyone who can complete a

Physics curriculum and graduate with a BS in Physics and a BS in PE Engineering by going continuously for 2 1/2 years and finishing as an physics honor student is entitled to one celebration. I don't think there should be held against him.

I am sincerely requesting that you have someone on your staff investigate the review of my sons application and interview and reconsider their (C.I.A.) decision against his employment.

It is my firm conviction that our government could do no better in selecting young scientific talent than my son. He represents everything we should be looking for in a government employee.

Will you please look into the and let me know if anything can be done, and if not, why the cause of his rejection.

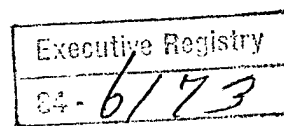

Respectfully yours,
